We labored for a year to formulate the best reroofing package for the Homestead roof. The existing wood shingles were at their life expectancy and we knew something had to be done to replace the roof before leaking became an issue.

This is our only wood shingle roof and it needed to be done in a way that was sensitive to the historic integrity of the Homestead and be a lasting and leak free roof.

We prescreened a select group of contractors with a proven track record on this type of work. The chosen contractor, Steven Bielitz from Glastonbury Restoration, LLC started on Tuesday and has surpassed our expectations for attention to detail, craftsmanship and quality.

They are about half done with the roof and will probably finish the job by the end of next week. There have been a few surprises (repairs) they've needed to address along the way and their approach to our Homestead has been as if it was their own antique house. An impressive group.

Let me know if you have any questions.
